MEET ATTORNEY BETTY TOUSSAINT

There's a sense of being in a special place when you walk into Toussaint Law Offices in suite 203 at The Guilford Building. Betty Toussaint founded this firm with children and families in mind: guardianship and family law are her specialties. She talks about abused, neglected and abandoned children and elderly people who can't take care of themselves. No wonder Betty is a guardian ad litem for Guilford and Randolph Counties.

Hers is not an easy job. On Sundays, her office light often shines through her glass door. She's been working regularly all week, 7.am. to 5.pm., and still there is work to finish on the weekend. Then she must get home to her two children who are five and seven years old. She has a 23-year-old son as well.

Her own children spurred her interest in youth ministry and education law. Along the way as she became a highly educated lawyer, she detoured to earn a Masters of Arts Degree in Youth Ministry from Andrews University Theological Seminary. The thread of helping children is woven through her career.

Betty also has an enterprising side. She is licensed to practice in Georgia and Florida as well as North Carolina. In all three states she can provide clients with family law representation and also personal injury services.

Betty is easy to talk to and is glad to speak to people with all kinds of legal problems.
